The App

App will have simple interface with feeds and announcements.

Brief

The final product will be a mobile application or can be a webapp. The application will work in a zone like university or school. Students can share their location where are they and on what project are they working on. Then, students with similar interests can join them, based on the information, and can study together. This will encourage collaborative learning.

Students and teachers can also announce on the the zone level that if they want to teach something can students can join them.

Uniqueness

This solution works on the zoned area like university or school which unique in sense. Also after short searching we didn't find an equivalent to our idea; at least as per our search. So, we think our is idea unique.
